Agardy transfer case goes to circuit court

Members of the Plymouth Board of Education were expected to appear at 9:30 this morning before Circuit Court Judge Roman S. Gibbs to show cause why David Agardy "is being forced to attend Plymouth Canton High School."

Maurice Breen, Plymouth attorney, filled a complaint on behalf of his clients, Julius, Jean and David Agardy, last Friday.

After months of deliberation, the school board last week denied a request to permit David Agardy to attend Plymouth Salem High School because in a rezoning of school boundaries announced last fall the Agardy family had been shifted into the Plymouth Canton zone.

The Agardys had shopped for two years for a home before they moved to the area several years ago. One of the prime attractions of the Salem part of the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park was basketball coach Fred Thomann. Eric Agardy, the middle son, thrived under Thomann's coaching and the 6-8 cager played a major role in the Rock team becoming a top contender for the Class A state championship in his senior year.

A DAUGHTER also attends Plymouth Salem. She will be allowed to finish her senior year there. But the change in attendance boundaries switched the younger son to Plymouth Canton, and the parents requested that the attendance policy be suspended.

Breen pleaded his clients' case at the last two meetings of the school board. Their request was denied by an unanimous board decision at the Sept. 1 meeting.

The complaint filed by Breen said, in part:

"That the complainants moved into the so-called Plymouth Salem attendance school area and that the school board subsequently changed the school attendance area so that complainant David Agardy and parents now are forced to attend the Plymouth Canton school.

"The complainants seek relief from this honorable court for the reason that other children of the Agardy family attend the Plymouth Salem school and David is being forced to attend the Plymouth Canton school for reasons not properly brought forth at the regular school board meeting.

"WHEREFORE, your plaintiffs seek relief in this cause and pray that a mandatory order be issued forthwith against the school board wherein David Agardy shall be placed in the Plymouth Salem school until such time as a full hearing can be held."

Three schools to offer PLUS preschool program

Some parents and four-year-olds in the Plymouth Community School District could gain a giant "plus" toward their educational future this year.

School officials are preparing to kick off the second year of the district's pre-school PLUS (Pupils Learning Useful Skills) program, available to four-year-olds and their parents in the Isbister, Starkweather and Central elementary school attendance areas.

Aimed at children in identified Title I portions of the district, the federally funded program will, hopefully, prepare children and their parents for the long school years ahead.

"The idea is to give them a 'head start,'" explained project director Mary Fritz. "The purpose is to give children who can profit from an early exposure to learning activities an opportunity for that exposure. We want to show children the skills that will help them in the future."

THE PROGRAM is not only geared toward four-year-olds, but toward moms and dads as well.

Mothers, fathers or "substitute" parents such as babysitters are asked to accompany their four-year-olds to the PLUS sessions, held one morning a week from October to May. While junior is playing and learning in one room under the supervision of a nursery school teacher, parents will discuss mutual concerns and educational techniques in the next.

"The main thrust is for activities that have been learned in school to be carried on at home," Mrs. Fritz explained. "We want to show parents the way to teach their children at home."

Under the program's format, children learn more than playing and socialization skills. Special play equipment is aimed at improving four-year-olds' small and large motor skills. Teachers are continually assessing their pupils and identifying special problem areas.

PARENTS ARE equipped with notebooks and learn educational projects that will improve their children's coordination and skills. Outside resource persons lecture on such topics as nutrition. Parents and children embark on field trips to the library, Plymouth School Farm and other facilities in the area.

Children and parents enrolled in the program are divided into "home" and "school" groups, Mrs. Fritz explained.

Groups of about 32 parents and children from each of the three elementary attendance areas—Central, Starkweather and Isbister—attend PLUS sessions at Farrand Elementary School one morning a week under the supervision of two certified teachers.

Other groups attend group PLUS sessions at residents' homes and one session a month at Farrand School. A special home group coordinator and other elementary school faculty members help parents organize their PLUS sessions. Play equipment is donated to the groups.

Plymouth wins 46 acre annexation

By MIKE ARNHOLT

A 46-acre parcel at Plymouth and Haggerty roads will be slipped off the Plymouth Township tax rolls and added to the City of Plymouth next year.

That was the ruling of the State Boundary Commission at an adjudicative session Sept. 3 which allowed the annexation of the Burroughs' parking lot to the city.

The decision was unanimous among the four boundary commissioners involved in the decision, but appeared to surprise both township and city officials.

"I think everyone was a little surprised," noted Plymouth Mayor Beverly McAninch. "We're very pleased with the decision and think it was a fair decision."

Township Clerk Helen Richardson

said township officials were surprised for other reasons. "We felt the arguments given to the boundary commission were unfair and false in many cases. The commission didn't study the matter completely enough."

When asked to elaborate on the unfairness of the decision, Mrs. Richardson said the township would wait until the written decision of the boundary commission was completed before making further comment.

The shift of the property from the confines of the township to the city will likely take place "sometime before Jan. 1," according to boundary commission Executive Secretary Jim Hyde.

Hyde said a formal written decision of the commission must be approved before the actual annexation can take place. Annexation of the property would take effect 61 days after the written opinion is approved.

Questions of whether the township will take court action to reverse the boundary commission's decision will have to wait until after the written opinion is handed down and is re- (Continued on Page 4A)

PEA members vote funds for fired Crestwood teachers

By DARLENE STINSON

Members of the Plymouth Education Association (PEA) are financially aiding fellow teachers in the Crestwood School District, who have lost their jobs because of participation in last year's strike.

PEA members last week voted 324-234 to hike their regular $163 annual dues by $75 as part of a general campaign of the Michigan Education Association (MEA) to raise funds for the dismissed Crestwood teachers.

The money is earmarked for a special MEA financial assistance fund, designed to grant $8,000 or $9,000 to each dismissed Crestwood teacher, according to Kenneth Gabel, executive director of several MEA groups in Wayne County, including the Crestwood Education Association (CEA).

"As part of the program of support for the Crestwood teachers and their struggle to regain their positions, other districts are conducting numerous activities, including donation of financial assistance," Gabel said.

The MEA hopes the funds reach an adequate level "to provide a subsistence wage for all the teachers who are out of work," he explained.

"The goal may be $8,000 to $9,000—enough for them to subsist on and continue their battle. If necessary, we'll wage this struggle to recover their positions through the year. We expect the fund to involve more than $1 million."

PEA President Candi Reece hailed her union's vote of financial support as evidence of sympathy for the Crestwood teachers.

"It really made me feel good that my teachers have a feeling for other teachers who have been fired," she said. "They understand the plight of people other than themselves. I felt very gratified. I felt proud to say I was their president."

ONE PEA MEMBER, who refused to disclose his identity, noted the 234 votes cast against the $75 donation and cited a rumbling of discontent among the PEA's membership.

"Many of our teachers feel we are being railroaded into giving our money to the Crestwood teachers," he said. "I think the parents of this district should be aware there are some teachers who just want to teach."

"Many of us are sick and tired of this. The Crestwood teachers played the game, and they lost."

But Mrs. Reece said the vast majority of PEA members agreed to abide by the majority decision in a reaffirmation vote, as outlined in the PEA's constitution. All but approximately 35 PEA members participated in last week's election.

All but approximately 30 teachers now working in the Crestwood School District were hired to replace the district's fired teachers, according to a spokesman for the Crestwood School Board.

THE DISTRICT'S school board and administration have so far conducted hearings for 14 of the fired teachers, the spokesman said. The district will conduct hearings, designed to determine individual violations of the Public Employee Relations Act (PERA) which outlines the illegality of teacher strikes, "as expeditiously as possible."

Reinstatement is "in order" for teachers found innocent of PERA violations, he said. The board so far has found seven teachers innocent. Recently hired teachers will not be dismissed if former teachers are rehired.

Crestwood teachers were fired by the school board last December because of alleged participation in an illegal strike. A court order reinstated the fired teachers until July 12, however, and temporarily dismissed other teachers hired as replacements.

That action averted sympathy strikes in Wayne County last January, when Plymouth teachers and other MEA members threatened to walk off their jobs in support of Crestwood teachers.

Mrs. Reece said the PEA has not reopened the question of a sympathy strike in support of the CEA.

"Our executive board has just dealt with the financial assistance question," she said. "That's all we've really talked about."

Gabel, however, did not rule out the possibility of a sympathy strike in Wayne County to support Crestwood's dismissed faculty staff.

"I don't know," Gabel said, when asked about the possibility of walk-outs. "There is a good deal of sympathy for the Crestwood teachers. Whether er that sympathy will express itself in an area strike, I don't know."

MEA members will assist the Crestwood teachers through activities other than financial assistance, Gabel said.

"It may be picketing, but I guess we haven't developed that yet. We have one objective—to get these teachers back to work. We intend to do that."

Gabel said all the MEA groups which have voted on the financial contribution issue so far have agreed to hike their dues by $75. The MEA is asking all its members in Wayne County to contribute a minimum $75 and members throughout the state to make some sort of financial contribution.

"I expect most districts in Wayne County will make the contributions," he said. "I expect there'll be Federation teachers (members of the MEA's rival teacher union) who will want to support this as well."

The MEA will refund money not used for the Crestwood cause to its members at the end of the year, Gabel said. The MEA's representative assembly may contribute funds to bring total Crestwood finances up to the $1 million mark.

The money will enable Crestwood's teachers to demonstrate for their jobs throughout the year, he said. The MEA may appeal a decision of the Michigan Employment Relations Commission, which found the Crestwood School Board innocent of unfair labor practice charges.

Gabel said Crestwood teachers are now demonstrating in front of the district's schools.

Looking ahead

SOME DAY, a second fire station will be located on this site on Warren and Haggerty roads. Canton Fire Chief Mel Paulson says that with the rapid growth of the township, another station, additional equipment and more firemen are badly needed. This site is owned by the township, but two attempts to get voters to approve millage for the station failed in the past. (Staff photo by Maurie Walker)

Fall Festival's here

The Plymouth Fall Festival opened under sunny skies on Thursday. The Colonial Kiwanis Club erected the booths, and the organizations and their wares moved in. Everyone reported record sales for an opening day.

The Business and Professional Women's Club served its German dinner to almost 6,000 diners. Members like Theresa Dennis, (right) scooped up gallons of sauerkraut. Park benches were lined with the crowd who stayed to listen to the German Band and other performers in the band shell.

After weeks of rain, the weather was almost too good to be true. But, they say, the sun always shines on the festival....

On Friday the rains came. The empty booths and rain washed tables in the park were a gloomy sight.

The Lions Club fish dinner continued in the wet and as the skies cleared Friday evening, the serving lines were doing a brisk business, and the festival officials stretched closing time to well past 11 p.m.

Plymouth wins 46-acre annexation

viewed by township attorney Donald Morgan, according to Mrs. Richardson.

The total annexation involves nearly 135 acres of land on the eastern edge of the city. About 90 acres of the parcel to be annexed are owned by the Wayne County Road Commission as part of the Middle Rouge Parkway. The remaining 46.14 acres are bounded by Plymouth Road on the south, Haggerty Road on the east, and the C&O railroad tracks at the north.

According to Township Treasurer Joe West, the developable parcel is currently assessed at close to $300,000 by the township and is zoned for commercial along Plymouth Road. The remainder of the parcel is zoned for mid-rise residential development.

The current total taxes received by the township on the property are approximately $900 per year.

With the city's tax rate being approximately five times greater than that of the township, the vacant parcel would produce close to $4,500 in revenue for the city when placed on the rolls next January.

Three petitions were filed by the city to annex the parking lot, the Hillside Inn, and the entire township in May of last year. Within hours after a consolidation election failed by a 2-1 margin.

The boundary commission later rejected the petition on the Hillside Inn property because it was improperly drawn up.

According to a boundary commission employee, no new petition has been filed for the annexation of the Hillside property.

While city officials feel the Burroughs parking lot annexation will mean little in terms of current revenue, they are eyeing it as a prime location for development in the future.

According to retiring City Commissioner Harold Guenther, having the parking lot located within the city could hasten the development of the parcel. "The township's approach is not one of hunger, like that of the city. The township could wait longer for development to take place on the parcel, but the city has a more immediate need to expand its tax base, and there isn't any other place we can go."

Guenther said, however, that the property still belongs to Burroughs "and they will decide whether development will take place or not. If there is no development on the site, then it's really a hollow victory for the city."

Boundary commissioners voting on the proposal included Alton Shirley of Canton Township, Bill Moshier of Romulus, and state members Al VanderLaan and Chairman David Calhoun.

The fifth member of the boundary commission, Irving Rozian, a former Plymouth Township resident, declined to participate in the hearings or the decision on the annexation.

Three schools offer PLUS

testing, administered at orientation sessions, Mrs. Fritz explained. Orientation programs are tentatively scheduled this year for the last week in September and early October.

"Some children can profit more than others from the in-school experience," Mrs. Fritz said. "We make no claims on any child being 'dumb.' These are all normal children."

The home sessions, Mrs. Fritz says, enables the district to offer a broad PLUS program.

"It's a way of spreading our talent," she said. "By using the home concept, we can encompass everyone in our three attendance areas. No one at all was turned away from the program last year."

"Besides, the home is where it is all at. If we're trying to make a difference in children by starting early, then the start shouldn't be away from the home environment. The home groups have the same material to work with as the groups in school."

A total of 114 children participated in last year's PLUS program.

"We had very significant gains last year with 100 per cent of our children," Mrs. Fritz said. "I think the children learned socialization skills at an early age. The mothers gained a deeper understanding of childhood development and more knowledge about their kids."

"WE'VE BEEN deluged with phone calls about the program this year," Mrs. Fritz continued. "We had many happy moms. They had a heck of a lot of fun. They all came from different backgrounds, but they had one thing in common—they all had four-year-olds."

PLUS personnel will keep track of kindergartners enrolled in last year's PLUS program and assess their progress, Mrs. Fritz said. Children enrolled in last year's pre-school program may progress more quickly than their classmates.

Parents of four-year-olds may obtain PLUS pre-registration forms at Truesdell Kindergarten School and Isbister, Starkweather and Central elementary schools. The forms should be returned to those schools.

Children must turn four on or before Dec. 1 to enroll in the program this year. Free bus transportation will carry parents and children from their homes to PLUS sessions at Farrand Elementary School.

Stratford Festival

Playgoers enjoy drama in relaxed setting

Residents from Plymouth and Livonia were among 12 persons from the metropolitan area who recently visited the 23rd annual Stratford Festival in Stratford, Ontario. The program featured a majority of Shakespearean works and a sampling of contemporary comedies and dramas.

Area residents viewed "Kennedy's Children" by Robert Patrick and Bertolt Brecht's "Trumpets and Drums," a spoof about a captain's efforts to recruit soldiers.

About a 3½-hour drive from Detroit, Stratford offers guests a choice of three stages. The festival's season, which began last June, continues through Oct. 11.

A change of pace is available Sept. 13 to 22 when the Avon Theater at Stratford hosts the 11th International Stratford Film Festival. The festival, begun in 1958 and revived in 1971 after being suspended for several seasons, has premiered such works as "The Harder They Come" and "The Paper Chase." Film festival audiences also have had an early opportunity to see such major films as "Sounder," "Harry and Tonto" and "Amarcord."

Besides live theater and films, Stratford presents Shakespeare seminars, theater workshops, master classes, concerts and art exhibits, set in the river and treed atmosphere reminiscent of Shakespeare's 16th century England.

After a full day at the theater, area playgoers enjoyed dinner, and a tour of the theater grounds and strolled through the nearby city.

Festivalgoers included Mrs. Mabel Bloxson of Plymouth Township, Mrs. Marcy Tschirhart of Livonia, a librarian in Livonia School District, and Mrs. Dorothy Dluski, of Livonia, formerly a secretary at Churchill High School.

TAKING TIME out from the theater is Mabel Bloxson of Plymouth Township. Mrs. Bloxson is a retired school teacher who once taught in Bird Elementary School in Plymouth.

The Stroller

A country boy at the races

—By W. W. EDGAR

There is more than a little semblance of truth to the saying, "You can take a boy out of the country, but you can't take the country out of the boy."

That's why it was like old times the other night when The Stroller joined the throng to watch the harness horse races at the Detroit Race Course—times when he used to sit in the grandstand at the county fair in the Dutch country and watch the rivalries among the farmers who brought their best pacers and trotters out to bid for blue ribbons.

There were some things The Stroller missed the other evening, but in the main, it was another night at the county fair plus the pari-mutuel betting that was unknown in the days of his youth.

AS HE sat there, The Stroller paid little attention to the betting—either by the people racing to and from the windows or the odds that were flashing on the tote board in the infield.

There was nothing like that in the old days, and it was only when the trotters and pacers moved into the metropolitan areas and night racing became popular that the wagering seemed to offset the real purpose of the races—to improve the breed.

WHILE HE WASN'T bothered by the antics of the bettors, he did miss the old style of starting the races. In contrast to today, when the horses are lined up behind a bar attached to an automobile, they had running starts. What fun they were!

Under the rules, no horse could cross the starting line ahead of the pole horse, and they had to come down in line. When they didn't, the starter would ring the bell and the field would have to try again. It was called "scoring."

It was fun to watch the trickery of the drivers. They'd try anything to tire the favorite. Often, they'd purposely race across the line or swing wide until the starter would bellow a threat to fine them.

It was under those conditions that The Stroller got his first exposure to horse racing. And that's why he just sat there the other evening admiring the running of the horses, studying their gaits and marvelling at the manner in which they broke out of the back stretch for the run to the wire.

There is nothing nicer to watch in sport than a good pacer or trotter, especially if you were schooled from youth to watch for such things. The other night he had visions of such great horses of the past—Dan Patch, Sweet Marie, and later Single G—that live in his memory.

WHEN HE LEFT the small home town and came to the city, The Stroller was introduced to the running races—and betting.

He used to sit in the press box at the State Fair Grounds and watch owners and trainers tear up mutual tickets in disgust. Many times he was given a "hot tip." But if the owners and trainers couldn't pick winners, why should he try to guess the outcome of a race.

As a result, The Stroller, though he covered races for years, never placed a bet—not a nickel—on a horse race. But he had many a laugh at those who did.

One evening, he recalls, Les French, a neighborhood friend, was taking his first look at the trotters. Les was a betting man and couldn't resist the temptation. He had had a bad afternoon betting on the runners so he decided he'd try to get even betting on the sulky riders.

As the horses came down the stretch, the one on which he had bet was out in front. Les jumped with delight. Then, all of a sudden, another horse came out of the middle of the pack and nipped his horse at the wire.

"Imagine that," Les screamed, "This afternoon my jockey couldn't find a hole to get on the inside and tonight I see a fellow drive a wagon (sulky) through one to beat me."

IT WAS A GREAT night at the track with Sen. Carl Pursell's party. While others were racing for the mutual windows, The Stroller sat there silently enjoying every minute watching the trotters and pacers in their well trained manner, battling their way to the finish line.

It was a real treat for the boy who had been lured out of the country. He was now back again in the rural environment of harness racing just as he had been in the days of the county fairs.

ANSWERS YOUR QUESTIONS ON FALL FERTILIZING

WHY THE FALL?

Lawn experts agree, feeding your lawn in the fall provides more lasting benefits than any other time of year. Cooler nights and shorter days encourage the growth and thickening of grass. Lawns fed in the fall stay greener longer despite cold weather.

WHAT ABOUT RE-SEEDING?

Fall's the best time to seed, as the warm soil temperature stimulates germination. Before or after you seed, apply Winter Green® to help get the new grass off to a fast, strong start!

WHY PAY FOR "SPRINGTIME" LEVELS OF NITROGEN?

Spring products with high-nitrogen formulas encourage blade growth in the fall, your lawn needs a stronger root system...to insure an early spring green. Winter Green's special 10-18-10 formula provides added phosphorous and potash to build up roots and provide protection against disease and cold temperatures.

NEED TO KILL STUBBORN FALL WEEDS?

Use Two-Way Winter Green...kills dandelions, chickweed and most broadleaf weeds while it fertilizes! $13.95, covers 10,000 sq. ft.

In Plymouth schools

Special ed programs expanded

Plymouth Community School District officials are placing more emphasis than ever on special education programs this year with introduction and expansion of programs designed for students with special needs.

The new programs are keeping Dr. Alice Gretzler, the district's new supervisor of programs and services, busy in her office at Central Middle School.

"There's really a lot happening in special education this year," said Dr. Gretzler, who came to the district in July as an administrative assistant to Dr. Edwin Page, director of pupil services. "We're trying to provide a full psychological service. We feel it can really meet the needs of the kids."

One new program, introduced this year at all grade levels, will attempt to erase specific learning problems that are interfering or blocking a student's educational progress.

"This is a very important position," Dr. Gretzler said of the learning consultants, who will work with regular classroom teachers and students with learning disabilities. "It will give students an opportunity to get special services that couldn't be given in regular classrooms."

"The learning consultant will allow the child to remain in the regular classroom. When special classroom placement isn't needed, the child can still be helped."

Other students with learning disabilities stemming from emotional problems will receive special help this year, according to Dr. Gretzler. Special consultants will help children with emotional problems in regular and special classrooms, established this year at Tanger and Farrand elementary schools and Central Middle School.

Children who needed special placement because of emotional problems were bused to other districts in Wayne County last year.

The district is providing more extensive services for pupils with special needs at the Centennial Educational Park this year. A teacher consultant, a fulltime psychologist, a fulltime social worker and a work study coordinator, who will place special education students in job situations, have been added to the staff.

"Many of these high school kids need practical on-the-job experience," Dr. Gretzler maintains. "They need to get some vocational skills before graduating from high school. This will give them an exposure to careers."

Other programs already introduced or earmarked for establishment in the district this year include:

- A special computerized program, funded by the Wayne County Intermediate School District, to develop individual curricula and objectives for special education students.

Plymouth was one of four school districts in Wayne County selected for the pilot program.

- A "child find" project, under which school officials will establish a system to locate students in the district who need special services.

- Reorganization of special education staff and services into "school cluster" arrangements. At least one psychologist, social worker, speech pathologist, learning disability consultant, emotional impairment consultant and nurse will service each cluster. Each middle school and its feeder elementary schools compose a cluster as does the CEP.

"It provides fuller services and allows these people to know their schools better," Dr. Gretzler said of the cluster arrangement. "It's more of an organized approach."

Thurston Could Be Dark Horse of NSL

Caution is the byword this season for Thurston head football coach Don Riehl.

"Sure, we have a lot of people back. But they're back from a losing team."

Take that as you may, Thurston has enough size, strength, height, weight, muscle AND experience to stay with just about any grid team in the area. Check out these stats:

Fullback Brian Garber, 6-2, 205; right tackle Richard Graustein, 6-3, 255; co-captain Bob Zichichi, 6-2, 243; center Rick Hayford, 6-0, 200; left tackle John Miller, 6-2, 202.

With this kind of size and All Observer & Eccentric halfback Gary Abundis back, the Eagles will put points on the board.

Running the show will be Roy Pili-gan who started at the quarterback slot for four games last year.

Still, Riehl has reason not to come out with any earthshaking statements. Thurston has been in the midsts of a gridiron slide of late and has not had a winning season since 1971.

Last year, the team won only two of nine games.

"We're trying to build a program here," said Riehl, who lists Livonia Franklin as the team to beat in the Northwest Suburban League race.

Riehl will run a Veer offense and an angle defense and lists only one blat-tant weakness for his team.

"We're thin in several areas. But we've got quite a few juniors who are coming along," he said.

The kicking duties will be handled primarily by junior Rick Raymond.

Another problem area might be in endurance. Thurston last year was noticeably deficient in the second half. Although they sported a poor record, the Eagles were ahead, or at least close, in every game at halftime.

This year several of the big men will be asked to play both offense and defense.

"That could be a factor. But all of the players who will be playing both ways reported in excellent shape," said Riehl.

Riehl also listed Westland John Glenn and Garden City East as pos-sible challengers for the Northwest Suburban crown along with powerful Franklin.

Record Cass Lake catch proves fish are there to be had

By LEM MESEE

Cass Lake, right in our own back yard in Oakland County, has produced a new state record kokanee salmon—17 inches, one pound, 12 ounces.

Robert Colvin of Orchard Lake caught it Aug. 27 while trolling along a shoal in 30 feet of water. It beats the 1974 record by two ounces.

Generally, kokanee are fewer and further between this year, but they're nice fish.

COHO "JACK" (immature) salmon are being taken at the Flat Rock dam on the Huron River as the Lake Erie fishery develops. Good catches of crappies are reported below and above the dam.

Belleville Lake in the Huron chain is still producing good catches of bass, walleye and crappie. Boat fish-ermen are picking up a few muskies. Even shore fishermen are picking up good numbers of crappies (on small minnows), some walleye (night-crawlers or small plugs) and bass (crawlers, Rapala lures).

In Oakland County, bass are hitting on Big, Lakeville, Orion, Pontiac and Stringy lakes.

To the east, walleyes are picking up on Lake St. Clair (Rapalas in weed beds) and the St. Clair River (trolling and drifting south of the Edison plant and north of Marine City (flat fish).

HUNTING SEASON is only a week off. Here are some dates and rules:

Sept. 15—squirrel opener; hours are 6 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Sept. 19-28—bear season in Zone 2 (northern lower peninsula); applications are being accepted by the state DNR on a first come, first serv-ed basis. To apply, send a self-ad-dressed U.S. post card with your 1975 bear or sportsman's license and signa-ture in ink on the blank side. Put it in an envelope addressed to: Bear Per-mit, Wildlife Division, Department of Natural Resources, Lansing, 48926. Apply once only.

Oct. 8-Nov. 26—duck season state-wide.

Oct. 1-Nov. 30—goose season, zones 1 and 2.

Oct. 8-Nov. 30—goose season, zone 3.

Sept. 15-Jan. 4 (except for deer sea-son)—"put-take" pheasant season. You need a special $10 permit in ad-dition to your small game or sports-man's license. There are special rules for the Bald Mountain, Holly, Wetzel and Gourdneck areas, so read your hunting rules carefully.

Oct. 1—deadline for applying for an antlerless deer permit in zones 2 and 3.

The trouble with buying a new set of wheels is you have to pay for the whole car.

And that can get expensive. You might need a little help. In that case, see HFC about a Shoppers Loan to help pay for that new car you've been eyeing. Or, for that matter, for any other shopping purchase you need. With a Shoppers Loan from HFC, you may borrow up to $1500. And that can save you a lot of trouble.

"IF WE CAN move the ball, we should be all right," says Livonia Franklin's new head football coach, Armand Vigna, who is relying on these three quarterback candidates to do just that as the Patriots bid for their third straight Northwest Suburban League title. In the fight

New coach, old habits-- Franklin guns for title

By JIM BRADLEY

There's something new and something old as Livonia Franklin prepares for another football season.

The something new is head coach Armand Vigna who has been named to replace George Lovich after serving as assistant for 10 years.

The old thing? Franklin looks to be the same powerhouse as always.

"It's a tough thing stepping in as head coach following the outstanding job George (Lovich) did the past seven years here," Vigna said. "But Jerry Collin (the other assistant) and I have worked with George these seven years and 10 altogether, so things will remain pretty much the same."

Vigna took over the reins when Lovich was named athletic director after running up an impressive 49-9-1 record from 1968 through 1974.

"FRANKLIN HAS WON the Northwest Suburban League football title the last two years and one of our goals is to win it for the third consecutive time," the new head coach explained.

"No one has won it outright three years in a row and we'd like to be the first team to do it."

And judging from the impressive list of returning regulars, the Patriots should be pretty tough. According to Vigna, the defense especially should be rugged with seven starters returning, including three all-league selections and an honorable mention all-leaguer. The front four in Franklin's 4-3 defense will be ends Tom Rae (6-4, 195) and all-league Bob Suarez (6-4, 205) and tackles Bob Picard (6-2, 210) and 6-foot, 180 pound Al Ancona, the only non-returner.

Tim Hollandsworth (6-2, 205), who will also get a shot at fullback, Sam Williams (6-3, 200) and either senior Chuck Hensch, or juniors Mike Kaseta and Ed McClesky, a transfer from Bishop Borgess, will handle line-backing chores.

In the defensive secondary, which helped post five students, are all-league Jim Casey at safety, honorable mention all-league Jerry Pollard, Larry Urban and either Al Acton or Dave Muller.

"DEFENSE IS definitely our strong point," says Vigna, "and if we can move the ball, we should be all right. The battle for the quarterback slot has been narrowed to three challengers, Dennis Smith, a 6-1, 180 pound junior; junior David Wilson (5-11, 185) who played tailback on the JV team last year and senior Larry Urban, who stands 5-10 and weighs 150 pounds.

Jim Casey, besides his defensive work, will play tailback, and is being pressed by junior Phil Yuhaz, a shifty speed-merchant. Flanker John Sames returns but is pressed by junior Tom Thorsby for the job.

Many of the better players, according to Vigna, will go both ways. These include linemen Williams, Suarez, Picard and Scott Maples, an offensive guard who also may play defensive tackle. Rick Perez (5-7, 175) and Gregg Morgan (6-4, 185) are battling for the other guard spot and Bob Gabel (5-8, 180) and junior John Adam (5-10, 180) both want to be the starting center. Speedster Darrel Gunter, a quick 5-7, 150-pounder will handle split end.

Oak Park has dropped out of the Northwest Suburban League, leaving it with only five members. "I look for Thurston and John Glenn to be the favorites, along with Franklin, but North Farmington, which didn't have a JV team last year, and Garden City East could surprise a lot of people," Vigna added.

"Franklin goes into the 'meat-grinder' immediately, visiting Fordson. Vigna's alma mater, this Friday. "Fordson is a perennial power and we look forward to playing them. We'll learn in a hurry what kind of team we'll have this year," Vigna said.

Inexperience is East's worry

Coach Gary Humphrey has never had a losing football season in his nine years at Garden City East. During that time he has run up the enviable record of 57 wins, 21 losses and two ties.

And he doesn't intend to start losing now.

But an inexperienced squad and a 'back-breaking' schedule will really put the blond mentor to the test this season.

"We are really going to be inexperienced this year," explains Humphrey, whose Panthers went 6-3 last year and 2-3 in the Northwest Suburban League.

His powerful squad suffered three consecutive defeats last year by a total of 22 points and Humphrey feels that a break here or there could have given East a 7-2 or even 8-1 season.

"But that was last year and we have to look at this year," he quickly adds, glancing at East's tough schedule.

The Panthers play their first three games at home against Dearborn Heights Riverside, Bishop Borgess and Bloomfield Andover. Borgess, Andover and Livonia Franklin, another East opponent, had a combined record of 24-3 last year and should be tough again.

"We don't have a breather on our entire schedule," laments Humphrey, "but I still think we'll do all right. I usually 'cry' a lot at the start of the season. I cried the year we went 9-0 in 1972."

HELPING BRUSH away some of the tears will be a nucleus of five returning starters from East's defensive unit. Chuck Klaska, a 6-foot, 195 pound tackle, will be supported by linebackers Steve Spigarelli (5-10, 180) and Ron Symanski (5-11, 170), halfback Paul Chute (5-9, 165) and junior defensive end Dave McCall, who stands 6-2 and weighs 195.

Joining those five will be one junior, Phil Emery (6-1, 190) at end, and five seniors: noseman Ed McCall (5-8, 160), tackle Jim Wasczenski (6-foot, 190), safety Jim Riley (6-2, 175) and halfbacks Greg Chiti (6-foot, 160) and 5-10, 160-pound Rod McCallister, a transfer from Dearborn Sacred Heart which closed its doors this past June.

Tight end Bob Hudson, a rangy 6-1, 180-pounder is the only returning starter in the Panther offensive line. Wally Krol, who started last year at split end, will try to fill the shoes of departed Britt Ponte at quarterback and holds the key to Panther fortunes this season. Krol, at 5-10, 180, is a talented athlete and should make the adjustment quite well.

Joining Krol in the backfield will be some untested performers in varsity play. Junior Mike Thomas, a speedy 5-10, 160 pounder who once scored five touchdowns in a ninth grade game, has the inside track for tailback. A pair of seniors, Brian Dominick (6-foot, 165) and chunky Keith Sieczkowski (5-8, 155) round out the backfield.

COACH HUMPHREY says he's high on sophomore Brian Gibbs, a 6-1, 185-pounder who played tackle last year. "We want to use Brian at fullback because of his size and speed," said the coach, "but we'll have to see how fast he comes along."

Three juniors and three seniors combine with returning Bob Hudson to provide the blocking for Panther backs. The three seniors are end Greg Emery (6-4, 190), who didn't play last year, tackle Dirk Beckwith (5-10, 200) and center Frank Jakubiec at 5-10, 160.

The juniors are guards Mark Roller (5-10, 165) and Keith Keck (6-1, 165) and big Greg McComas, a 6-1, 195 pound tackle.

The lineup is far from settled, according to Humphrey, and there are several other boys who could move into starting positions. Included in that group is 5-9, 150 pound Dennis Garrett, a senior defensive halfback who has also been impressive this month.

"I believe inexperience is the key word for us but we have a good nucleus to build with. Offensively we're very young, but Wally can throw the ball well and our kids play hard and are very dedicated."

Humphrey also expressed his thoughts about East's tough schedule.

"I believe we play as tough a schedule as just about anybody and there are no breathers on our schedule. We play three schools that lost only two ballgames between them last year."

"In the Northwest Suburban League race, Franklin and North Farmington are always tough and I believe John Glenn will be a lot better than most people think," the veteran coach said.

As an afterthought, he added: "Oh yes, I think we'll surprise a lot of people this year also."

In The Pocket

By W.W. EDGAR

Would you believe that 65 million people across the country bowled at least once during the past year?

That's the figure furnished by the Louis Harris poll just released by the National Bowling Council. The poll shows an increase of 25 per cent in bowlers during the past four years. In 1971 the same poll revealed that 52 million persons took a shot at the headpin.

The poll also showed that more than six million persons bowled at least once a week in regular league play throughout the year.

Among other facts uncovered was that of Americans 18 and older, 41 million (29 per cent) bowled last year. In the group 18 and under, almost 24 million (34 per cent) tried the game during the past year.

Of these, the metropolitan Detroit area furnished at least a quarter million adult bowlers who competed in leagues each week. It is estimated that this number jumped to 400,000 throughout the states.

And junior bowling, growing at a rapid rate, has now reached the 100,000 mark.

HERE ARE the results of the summer leagues at Westland Bowl, one of the busiest places in the entire area:

Jean and Bob Baker, along with Linda and Charles Staggs, paced The Summer Bunch. Millie Holmes, Darlene Vorley, Jan Michael and Char Whiteman won the championships in the Early Birds loop, while Betty Kingery, Jan Olson, Nona Ellsworth and Karen Anderson took the title in the Streakers league. The big winners, though, were Ric Capaldi, Ken

Wolverine offers new lures to harness fans

Coming up with an "encore" could be pretty difficult after the record-shattering Grand Circuit performances enjoyed by Wolverine Raceway last week.

But Livonia's big mile harness track has scheduled a pair of feature attractions this Wednesday and Friday nights which will very likely entice the largest crowds of the meeting.

On Wednesday the unique Lottery Mile will find 10 of Wolverine's best pacers competing in the 10th race and determining by their order of finish the winners of a special draw in Michigan's current $5 Bicentennial Lottery Ticket sale.

It will mark the first time in the history of the Michigan Lottery program that race horses have been directly connected with the selection of winners.

On Friday, Wolverine will stage its annual Good Old Times Night, an ever-popular evening when virtually all prices are rolled back to the days when hot dogs were 10 cents and pop and ice cream a nickel. Grandstand admission will again be 50 cents with children under 12 admitted free when accompanied by an adult.

Historically, Wolverine has attracted its greatest crowds on Old Times Night including its all-time record throng of 19,715 in 1970. Last year in early September 18,701 turned out for the colorful cut-rate affair.

Beattie and Maurie Quinlan who captured the Classic Trio crown that was worth $900.

ONE OF THE STRONGEST women's leagues in the state this year will be at Garden Lanes. It is the Friday Night Classic and it has attracted many of the top average bowlers from the Ladies Major League and the Bowlerettes.

Among the stars will be two former Bowling Queens—Ann Setlock and Mary Mohacs, the Livonia school teacher who won runner-up honors in the World Federation event a year ago.

Eligible for Wednesday's $17,000 list of prizes, including three 1975 automobiles, are all persons in possession of the $5 Bicentennial Lottery tickets. The tickets have been on general sale since July and also at Wolverine for the past three weeks.

The winners of the special lottery event will be determined in the following manner:

Wolverine patrons that night holding Bicentennial tickets will receive special coupons entering them in the Lottery Mile giveaway by presenting their lottery tickets at special race track booths before the sixth race.

A patron will receive a coupon for each lottery ticket he presents.

Fall is season to get busy-- that's easy to do in Plymouth

Spend your day with toddlers and yearn for adult conversation?

Find yourself in a rut with with TV soap operas and dull routine?

New to the community and just a little lonesome?

Are fall and winter too dismal to contemplate?

(Sounds like the prologue to a bad commercial.)

The approach of autumn brings a kind of communitywide nestling down with dozens of opportunities to expand your talents, your mind and your participation in the good life.

And the great advantage of living in the Plymouth-Canton area is that these activities are within a 15-minute drive of your home.

POLITICS (grass roots variety)

There's an election coming up in the City of Plymouth this fall for city commissioners. Eight candidates are vying for four seats, three four-year terms and one two-year term.

Now is the time to study the candidates and make your choice.

Get in touch with your favorite and offer to help. Nothing is more exciting than an election campaign. Win or lose, the friendships and the very mechanics of an election are an exhilarating experience.

Knowledge gained in working at the grassroots level will prepare you for the federal contests coming up in 1976. You'll be ready to get involved with the major league candidates next spring.

To see your local governments in action attend township board, school board or city commission meetings. They are entertaining and educational--no television program can top them.

CREATIVE (Undiscovered talents)

Opportunities to acquire a new skill are limitless.

You probably have received a brochure from the Plymouth Community School District listing fall classes in its continuing education program.

The schools offer jewelry making, chair caning, crocheting, doll house accessories, flower arranging, interior decorating, macrame, needlepoint design and crewel embroidery.

New this year is a "do something different" class that is described as a smorgasbord of eight two-hour sessions to help you decide which is most interesting. Once the decision is made the student may delve further into a chosen field.

Subjects discussed will include human potential workshop, palmistry, handwriting analysis, short cut cooking for the busy gourmet, body language, food facts and fallacies, psychic phenomena and decorating your home for the holidays.

The Plymouth Community Arts Council will begin crafts classes Sept. 22. Five two-hour lessons are offered with outstanding instructors.

They include: basketwork, Theresa Ohno and Grace Kabel; crewel, Margaret Moon; crocheting, Jo Krause; basic drawing, Dee Schulte; finger-weaving, Mrs. Ohno and Mrs. Kabel who also will have classes in macrame; needlepoint-bargello, Mrs. Moon; quilting, Thelma Cupler and Mrs. Krause; and stained glass, Judy Clements.

For more information on class costs and schedules call the PCAC office on Main Street, Plymouth.

SPORTS (spectator)

Local high schools have produced many championship teams and the fellowship generated in cheering the hometown team to victory is an unmatched experience.

The football teams have a large following of fans at the Friday night games at home and away.

Part of the color of the game is the halftime performance of the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park marching band, one of the finest high school bands in the country. The CEP band has performed in the Orange Bowl and Rose Bowl parades.

If you can't attend the game, the local FM radio station at the high school broadcasts the games, play by play.

Hockey fans will find plenty to cheer about at the Plymouth Cultural Center arena, 525 Farmer Street, as teams of all ages compete almost every day of the week.

SPORTS (participation)

The Plymouth Community School District offers football, swimming, badminton and bowling.

Recreation departments offer touch football, hockey, soccer and figure skating.

Basketball leagues will be formed later in the season and even scuba diving lessons are available.

The area provides facilities and opportunities to keep in fine physical condition and meet neighbors with similar interests.

EXCLUSIVE (for newcomers only)

Two newcomers clubs and a We-come Wagon club have proven to be an enjoyable way of becoming acquainted after moving to a new area.

Friendships made years ago in the original Plymouth Newcomers Club still flourish.

Activities are arranged for husbands and wives and new members are welcomed.

GREASEPAINT (the theater)

The Plymouth Theater Guild is one of the oldest community theater groups in the state.

Membership in the guild does not assure a starring role in the next production or even a walk-on part. But there is much to do behind the scenes and it is fun to be a part of it all.

If you don't actually become a member of the group watch for their offerings. Plays are in Central Middle School and the audience is seated cabaret-style at tables.

MUSIC (The symphony)

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra begins its 30th season at 4 p.m., Sunday Oct. 12 in Plymouth Salem High School auditorium.

Your first concert is a pleasant surprise.

The uninitiated cannot help being skeptical of the caliber of an orchestra assembled by a community the size of Plymouth.

In his 25 years with the orchestra, Conductor Wayne Dunlap has built a group rated as the finest community orchestra in the state.

The Plymouth Symphony League, major financial supporter of these projects, such as the symphony ball, round robin bridge, antique mart and house tour, are rotated.

Mrs. Charles Lang, president of the league, has information about membership and the group projects.

BRIDGE? CHESS?

Plymouth has a reputation of being a bridge-playing community.

In addition to all the private and social bridge clubs, there are regular duplicate and party games at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

The Symphony League's round robin game welcomes pairs, singles and mixed double combinations. Substitutes often are needed and that is a good way to break into the sessions which are organized for the season.

Jo Hulce is in charge of the group this year.

Chess games are scheduled each Tuesday night in the Plymouth Cultural Center, 525 Farmer Street. Novices and experienced players may join the group at 7:30 p.m.

BRIDGE

Many deals are a challenge to both the defense and declarer. Each plans a line of play and the other attempts to disrupt the plan. In other cases one can only follow suit and hope his opponent makes a mistake.

West led the king of spades. Declarer won the opening lead with the spade ace and began to play clubs. Both defenders had to begin discards at trick three.

It was easy for West to keep his high spade and three diamonds, but East's problem was not as simple and he kept two hearts and two diamonds. Declarer had his three diamonds and a club.

A small diamond was led and the jack finessed. East won with the ace and apparently had not kept track of all the hearts. When an attempt was made to cash the heart ace, West was destroyed.

If he discarded his spade, dummy's jack became a winner. If he discarded a diamond, dummy's six became the magic card.

When declarer holds a long suit the problem can be frustrating to the defense. One cannot follow suit and must begin to discard long before he has any notion of the card distribution.

By ERNEST AND KAY CLINTON

The hand in the diagram is an illustration. South has three losers. When the dummy is exposed, there appears to be some hope, but the location of the cards and the sequence of play becomes critical.

It is interesting to note the simple play that would have solved all of declarer's problems. He simply needs to play the diamond five.

West will probably carelessly play the three and the six is adequate to force the ace. Of course this is too unlikely to be practical.

Winners at this week's duplicate bridge game at the Plymouth Cultural Center were Marge Key and Pat Koval, north-south, and Leon and Jo Ann Lowe, east-west.

Christine Ann Pender and Dr. Paul W. Kenzie were united in marriage in a recent ceremony in Orchard United Methodist Church, Farmington Hills, with the Rev. Eric Hammer officiating.

The newlyweds will live in Plymouth, where the bridegroom works as an optometrist. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Kenzie of Jacqueline Avenue, Livonia.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Pender of Farmerville Avenue, Farmington Hills, was given in marriage by her father.

She wore a crepe gown with beaded lace trim and carried orchids and stephanotis with greens for the candle-light ceremony.

Her attendants wore mint green hooded dresses and carried bouquets similar to the bride's. Ricki Heronemos of Columbus was matron of honor for her sister and the bridesmaids were Donna Forte, Debbie Aubuchon, Diane Kenzie and Jackie Craft.

Robert Kenzie was best man and the guests were seated by ushers Gene Fonger, Dave Sutherland, Jim Simmons and John Koski. Terri and Robert Forte were flower girl and ring bearer.

The reception was held in the St. Francis Knights of Columbus Hall in Farmington.

The new Mrs. Pender, a graduate of North Farmington High School and Western Michigan University, has been a medical social worker at Memorial Hospital in Benton Harbor.

Lack of care causes deaths

Because each year more than 50,000 Michigan women have either inadequate medical care or none at all during pregnancy and delivery, nearly 4,000 children in this state die before their first birthday.

This assertion was made by the Michigan League for Human Services, a United Way of Michigan member service.

Canton Newcomers Club offers varied programs

Canton Newcomers Club, one of the largest groups of its kind in the tri-county area, opens its third season Sept. 10 with a meeting in Pioneer Middle School, 46081 W. Ann Arbor Trail.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. with a hospitality hour. President Sue O'Donnell says this is an excellent opportunity to meet new friends and neighbors.

The club has a membership of more than 320 women, but every other month activities are planned especially for couples.

SIGN-UP SHEETS will be available at the first meeting to allow members to choose one of the 32 interest groups which meet in individuals' homes. Crafts, bridge, gourmet dinners, bowling, tennis and flower arranging are offered for small group participation.

First of the couples' programs planned for the year will be an Oct. 4 road rally. Last season's rally attracted about 200 persons.

ANNE BENINGTON, who is in charge of club publicity, said the road rally is a form of treasure hunt. Last year with 75 cars involved in following clues, the police were notified of the event.

"The first car to return wins the prize," said Mrs. Benington. "Last year it was dinner for four and theater tickets."

This year we are planning a dinner dance after the rally."

The November general meeting will be a luncheon with a demonstration of how to arrange Thanksgiving and Christmas decorations.

IN DECEMBER a dinner is planned for couples at the Mayflower Meeting House. The theme is bicentennial and a special crafts display will be arranged.

"We're planning another big Bingo party and a Valentine dance after the new year," Mrs. Benington said.

Officers in the club are Sue O'Donnell, president; Marianne Miller, vice president; Kathy Merriam, secretary; and Carol Koesel, treasurer.

Board members include: Mary Hamilton, newsletter; Mrs. Benington, publicity; Denise Edison, reservations; Gloria Miller, couples' programs; Sharon Spencer, hospitality; Norma Ryan, membership; Ann Ward, nursery; Pat Davidson, interest groups; and Sue Warmber, adviser.

Meat shopping series offered in Canton

Meat-cutting demonstrations will highlight a new three-lecture series to begin the week of Sept. 15 under the sponsorship of the Michigan State University cooperative extension service and Meijer's Thrifty Acres in Canton Township.

Three sets of three programs each will be offered free, by registration on a first-come, first-served basis in the meeting room of the Meijer store, 45001 Ford Road at Canton Center Road.

In each series, the first two lectures will be by Ada Shinabarger, extension food marketing specialist, who will talk about beef.

The third lecture will be tips on selecting and storing pork. Each program will include meat-cutting demonstrations by Dave Potter, meat specialist, who will show homemakers where given cuts come from and how they can better identify given cuts and understand proper cooking methods.

One series will be offered Mondays from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Sept. 15, 22 and 29. The two other series, on Tuesdays, Sept. 16, 23 and 30, will be given from 9 to 11 a.m. and 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. a free meat information kit for future use in shopping for meats and cooking and storing them. The package includes materials that retail for $2.

The meat shopping series is designed for all homemakers who want to update meat knowledge.

Seating in the meeting room is limited, so early registration is advised. To enroll, call Arleen Arnold, MSU extension consumer marketing information, 2832 E. Grand Boulevard, Detroit. No children will be admitted to the classes.

potted. Forgetful homemaker that I am, I've managed to kill even the hardiest specimens.

I go outside and my woes just increase. I plant and prune and fertilize, and just when I think I have everything under control, it turns out I lavished all that attention on a crop of weeds and I have to start pulling them out.

ROCKS AND STONES, on the other hand, make none of these demands on me. What they do is lie peacefully on a beautiful Lake Superior shore waiting for me to pick them up.

Then, after I gather and carry home, they toss uncomplainingly in my tumbler, and after a few weeks they come out shiny and smooth and beautiful and really soothing to the touch.

THIS ODE to northern Michigan's geological specimens is written because just recently I was able to ignore the rampant weeds outside and long-suffering houseplants inside and spend two weeks not far from that rock beach. I brought home more than my patient family could believe, and the first batches now are tumbling merrily.

Now the Stallion

Maverick has added another horse to the Ford stable. The Maverick Stallion is an "appearance" version of the two-door sedan. It includes a new texture black grille, black window moldings, black paint/tape treatment on the hood, decklid, lower body and lower back panel, and large stallion emblems on the front fenders.

AUTO TIPS

Your car won't start?

By PAT RICK KELLY

The car won't start. It's cranking, there's a long, thick spark... and there's fuel squirting out of the carburetor. It should start—but it doesn't.

So, you crank it some more... and some more. About 99 per cent of all motorists try this method when faced with this kind of problem.

Chances are your problems are only minor ones, and had you approached your no-start problem with the following check-out procedure, you wouldn't have run the battery dead.

WORN SPARK PLUGS. When was the last time you had your car's spark plugs changed? Most people think that the plugs would never get so bad that they would prevent the car from starting. The fact is worn plugs are one of the most common causes of starting trouble.

CLOGGED AIR FILTER. What's that got to do with starting the engine, you ask? Remove the filter and try starting your car. A badly clogged air filter has the same effect as an automatic choke stuck closed.

STUCK AUTOMATIC CHOKE. If it's stuck open, it will start the car when the engine is cold. If it's stuck closed, the warm or hot engine will have trouble starting. In other words, it should be closed when the engine is cold and open when it's hot. Remove the air filter and check it.

CARBURETOR FLOODING. You can usually smell the gasoline if "it's flooded." That means there's too much fuel if you've had to start the car recently with the throttle wide open. Wait a few minutes before trying again.

WATER IN GASOLINE. How is that possible? Most likely by condensation in the tank. It's a common cool and cold weather problem. Consequently, if there's enough water build-up and it gets in the gas lines, the car won't start.

How can you tell if you have water in your fuel? Collect some of the gas, empty it onto a flat metal surface, and if it "beads up" there's water in the fuel.

To get rid of the water, have the tank drained and the fuel lines blown out with compressed air.

LOOSE DISTRIBUTOR LOCK. The engine vibration from the cranking can cause the distributor to shift, throwing the ignition out of time enough to prevent starting. The shift resulted from a lock that holds the distributor in place that worked loose. It must be tightened but your ignition must be timed again, also.

VACUUM ADVANCE STUCK OPEN. This condition causes your car's ignition timing to advance so far that the car won't start—hot or cold. Better have it checked.

MECHANICAL ADVANCE STUCK OPEN. The effect is the same as with the vacuum advance stuck open. The difference is the vacuum advance involves the breaker plate of the distributor, while the mechanical advance has to do with the rotor. It's good to have them both checked.

SEVERE AIR INTAKE LEAK. If too much air gets into the engine fuel mixture, you'll have starting problems. This kind of leak is caused by a blown gasket between the manifold and cylinder head or at the carburetor base. Squirt some oil around these locations, crank the engine and if the oil bubbles up and is sucked in, there's an air leak. Inspect the manifold and carburetor. If they're loose, air leaks are possible.

JUMPED TIMING CHAIN. This is a condition that happens when the engine is running or just as it was being shut off. The car won't start the next time. Have your mechanic check the intake and exhaust valves. They should be fully closed on cylinders one or six on six-cylinder engines, and on one or eight on V-8s.

INADEQUATE COMPRESSION. Check with a compression gauge. This condition generally shows up on older cars during the first seasonal cold spell. A blown head gasket will also cause this condition.
